

THREE WAYS TO BUILD A BRIGHTER VETERINARY FUTURE

● CREATE INSIGHT: SPARK NEW PERSPECTIVES

By continuously posing questions, we can stimulate others to consider various scenarios and potential actions. This approach effectively generates insights for others, sometimes even unexpectedly. Encourage people to reflect by asking, "What would be your next step?" or "How could you approach this differently in the future?"

● REDEFINE BOUNDARIES: ENCOURAGE INNOVATIVE THINKING

As humans, when we consider a possibility, we often immediately list reasons why it won't work or can't happen, such as lack of time, information, experience, or resources. However, we can't attempt new things if we decide beforehand they're unfeasible. Building a better future hinges on trying new approaches.

● EMPOWER PROGRESS WITH A SHARED VISION

Confidence emerges when we move from conceptualizing ideas to executing them. When others believe in us, it prompts us to reassess our confidence levels. Expressing your belief in someone's ability to put in the effort and progress in a new direction often serves as the catalyst for their action.
